

Hearing on Artificial Intelligence

Expert panelist for HITAC Hearing on AI in Health and Human Services

- Community Representative
- Comunidad de Durham
- Health AI Partnership
- Healthcare Advocate
- Grassroots Organizer
- Elected Official
- Durham Board of Education
- North Carolina Central University Board of Trustees
- Former Durham Human Relations Commissioner

Alexandra Valladares

Community Perspectives on Artificial Intelligence

Alexandra Valladares

Alexandra is a community organizer whose passion is to tend to the relationships that underpin underserved communities' social realities and promote health, educational advancement, economic mobility, and other aspects of family wellbeing. She supports efforts throughout the United States in developing and maintaining partnerships and collaborations to provide culturally and linguistically responsive services and helpful resources for families. Bringing years of experience as a community advocate, Valladares desires to foster necessary community conversations around the use of technology and strengthen the connection between families, health institutions, and communities to improve health outcomes.

Collaborations

Transparency

Best Practices

Cultural Humility

Multi-stakeholders

Equity

Low-resource
Settings

Responsible Use of AI

Advocacy

Access

Accountability

Addressing
Barriers

Language

Networks

Monitoring

Thanks!

COMUNIDADDEDURHAM@GMAIL.COM